Members of the public are welcome to attend the meeting and listen to the discussions.

There is time set aside at the beginning of most meetings to allow the public to ask questions.

Speaking under “Public Question Time” is limited to 4 minutes per person in an overall period of 15 minutes. The Committee Administrator will keep a close watch on the time and the Chairman will be responsible for ensuring the time permitted does not overrun. The speaker will be allowed to address the Committee once only and will not be allowed to participate further in any debate.

Except at meetings of Full Council, where public participation will be restricted to Public Question Time only, if a member of the public wishes to address the Committee on any matter appearing on the agenda, the Chairman will normally permit this to occur when that item is reached and before the Councillors begin to debate the item.

This is more usual at meetings of the Council’s Planning Committee and details of the “rules” which apply at these meetings can be found in the leaflet “Having Your Say on Planning Applications”. A copy can be obtained free of charge from the Planning Reception Desk at The Deane House or by contacting the telephone number or e-mail address below.

If an item on the agenda is contentious, with a large number of people attending the meeting, a representative should be nominated to present the views of a group.

These arrangements do not apply to exempt (confidential) items on the agenda where any members of the press or public present will be asked to leave the Committee Room.

Full Council, Executive, Committees and Task and Finish Review agendas, reports and minutes are available on our website: www.tauntondeane.gov.uk

The meeting rooms at both the Brittons Ash Community Centre and West Monkton Primary School are on the ground floor and are fully accessible. Toilet facilities, with wheelchair access, are available.

Lift access to the Council Chamber on the first floor of Shire Hall, is available from the main ground floor entrance. Toilet facilities, with wheelchair access, are available through the door to the right hand side of the dais.

An induction loop operates at Shire Hall to enhance sound for anyone wearing a hearing aid or using a transmitter.

last meeting both Mr Terry Bowditch (Co-opted independent member) and Mr
Bill Sparrow (Parish Council representative) had resigned from the Advisory Committee.

4. Minutes

The minutes of the meeting of the Standards Advisory Committee held on 15
March 2016 were taken as read and were signed.

5. Declaration of Interests

Mrs Anne Elder, declared a personal interest as a Public Governor of the Taunton and Somerset NHS Trust.

6. Raising Standards : Parish Council Health Checks

This item was deferred due to the indisposition of the Mr Justin Robinson, County Executive Officer of the Somerset Association of Local Councils.

The item would be added to the agenda of the next meeting towards the end of May 2017.

7. Discontent with the current Standards Regime

Richard Bryant reminded the Advisory Committee of the meeting held with Rebecca Pow MP on 29 April 2016 where the concerns of the Committee as to the weakening of the Standards Regime in Local Government following the introduction of the Localism Act 2011 had been discussed.

A summary of the points made was subsequently sent to Rebecca Pow who had undertaken to bring this to the attention of the appropriate Minister.

Unfortunately, a response from the Minister was still awaited.

Mr Bryant went on to report that Taunton Deane was not alone in thinking that the effectiveness of the Standards Regime had been diminished. Indeed, a letter was currently being prepared by Sedgemoor District Council's Monitoring Officer which would be sent to the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government.

It was hoped this letter would be signed by the Chairmen of all Standard Committees throughout Devon and Somerset.

During the discussion of this item, Members reported that many of the Parishes were unaware of the very limited sanctions that could be imposed on a Councillor who had breached the Code of Conduct. However, the view was also expressed that publicity of a breach through the local media was something most Councillors – whether Borough or Parish – would seek to avoid and would therefore moderate their behaviour accordingly.

The Advisory Committee did agree that it would be timely for a reminder to be sent to all Councillors about the necessity to comply with the terms of the Code of Conduct and to offer further copies, if Members wished to receive it.

Resolved that the report be noted.

8. Exclusion of the Press and Public

Resolved that the press and public be excluded from the meeting for the following items because of the likelihood that exempt information would otherwise be disclosed relating to Clause 2 of Schedule 12A to the Local Government Act 1972 and the public interest in withholding the information outweighed the public interest in disclosing the information to the public.

9. Update on complaints made against Councillors

The Monitoring Officer, Bruce Lang, provided a detailed report on the complaints that had been received by him over the past twelve months, the action that had been taken to deal with the matters raised and the outcomes.

A total of nine complaints relating to Councillors in four of Taunton Deane's Parishes had been received and one further complaint was anticipated.

In addition, two complaints had been raised against Borough Councillors one of which had been resolved without having to use the formal investigation route, whilst the other was still in the early consideration stage.

Resolved that the report be noted.

10. Date of next meeting

The next meeting of the Advisory Committee would be held on Tuesday, 23 May 2017 at 2.30 p.m. in the John Meikle Room at The Deane House.

(The meeting ended at 3.58 p.m.)

Dear Mr Bryant

Thank you for meeting me and discussing your concerns about the local government standards regime. I apologize for the length of time it has taken to follow up.

Following our conversations, I discussed this issue with the Minister for Local Government, Marcus Jones, as well as making formal written representations. I have now received a response and I enclose a copy for your information and reference.

As you can see from the reply, the changes made in the Localism Act 2011 were needed to help prevent politically motivated attacks and it is now down to each local authority to decide what is in the code of conduct.

I hope that the information enclosed helps to clarify some of the thinking behind the changes and as you will note, the Localism Act is due to be reviewed this year. Should I be returned at the next election I will be sure to feed in your views during this process.

Thank you again for taking the time to make me aware of your concerns.

Yours sincerely

Dear Rebecca,

Thank you for your letter of 22 March in which you relay the concerns Taunton Deane Borough Council has about the standards regime introduced by the Localism Act 2011.

The previous standards regime consisted of a model code governing local authority members' conduct and was enforced through local authority standards committees, regulated in turn by the Standards Board for England. Unfortunately, it became a vehicle for petty, malicious and politically-motivated complaints.

Under the current arrangements, every local authority is required to adopt a code of conduct for local authority members. It is for each local authority to determine the contents of their code, although it must conform to the seven 'Nolan' principles of standards in public life: selflessness, integrity, objectivity, accountability, openness, honesty and leadership. We have not sought to define these principles - such definitions already exist and are freely available, for instance on the web site of the Committee for Standards in Public Life.

The current set-up also requires local authorities to put in place arrangements to investigate and decide on allegations of breaching the code. We do not, however, dictate to local authorities what those arrangements might be. This is for local authorities to determine for themselves.

The new regime does allow a council to take action against any councillors it considers have breached its code of conduct. These include removing a councillor from a committee or formally censuring them. Of course the ultimate judgement of a councillor's conduct comes at the ballot box. I consider these arrangements to be appropriate.

I note that Taunton and Deane Borough Council also raises concerns about the introduction of strict rules on the registration and disclosure of certain pecuniary interests. I feel it is absolutely vital that the electorate can assure themselves that local authority members are not putting their own interests ahead of those of the public and that is why the current sanctions include a criminal offence.

You might be interested to know that the Government gave a commitment to review the Localism Act within five years of the coming into force of the changes it introduced, and so we intend to conduct that review later this year.

Your
Marcus
